

August 15, 2006

Whitehall Products is pleased to be a sponsor in the Universal Design Living Laboratory (UDLL). Our participation with such a program backs the strong outlook our company possesses towards the home building market. Everything the UDLL stands for is a complete advancement towards the wellbeing of the residential housing market. Whitehall also strives to enhance many aspects of the building market by providing quality, American made mailboxes and home address signage that improves the look and aesthetic appeal of every home.

Our company looks forward to the future involvement of such a strong and meaningful project.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads 'James McGinley'. The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, prominent 'J' and 'M'.

James McGinley
National Sales Manager