Dear Rosemarie and Mark:

Thank you for all of your efforts to raise awareness and financial support for Ohio State University Medical Center for Spinal Cord Injury Research.

Your personal campaign – the Universal Design Living Laboratory – is an inspiring program to educate, teach, and mentor the local, state, regional, national, and international community.

The home that you have designed and will build will offer 78 million Americans who have physical limitations and challenges, or who wish to remain in their homes as they age, the opportunity to learn how to improve their lifestyles and activities at home. It will offer useful ideas to enhance a home's function for everyone

We're also thrilled that you are incorporating the concepts of universal design, green building, and healthy home into the Universal Design Living Laboratory.

Thank you for naming The Ohio State University Medical Center through the Rosemarie Rossetti Spinal Cord Research Fund as the benefactor of the net proceeds from your promotional campaign!

And, as always, thank you for all of your efforts to make a difference for everyone.

Sincerely,

William S. Pease, M.D.
